TRIADOPTION®

The Surname / Birthdate Index

TRIADOPTION® Services Computerized DataBank cross-references surnames and birthdates to the originating source of the data. This collection has been compiled since the early 1970's to assist searchers in locating possible family information. Since many organizations, publications and other adoption search resources have ceased activity or records have become inaccessible, this index helps identify and preserve access to some of that information. If you desire further inquiry on a name or date found in this index, follow the directions in Appendix A.

The information contained in this publication is extracted from various resources including newspapers, magazines, newsletters, public records, membership lists, and individuals. The accuracy of those resources cannot be guaranteed. This index is cross-referenced by ID# to the original resource and every attempt is made to maintain those extracts, publications, lists or letters on microform. Many of those microform records are available for look-up from search organizations, specialists and libraries. For information on available microform locations write to the publisher.
